Bubbling Beauregarde goes BANG!

This is Albie Johns reporting for the Fudge Times.

Last week miss Beauregarde went to Mr Wonka's factory, and Mr Wonka sturned her into a blueberry!

"He gave me some chewing gum and I was expecting it to be fine but I started to swell up and turn purple."

Apparently it happened in a huge factory when a blueberry was spotted rolling out of a glass door.

"He is such a mean and horrible person for forgetting to take the blueberry pie part out." said her mum.

Some other children reported to us as well about the monstros mr Wonka and horrors that went on in the factory. "I hate that guy he's ruin my whole life."
