Augustus sails off down the chocolate river!

Toby P. Investigates!

Augustus Gloop, the first Golden Ticket finder, today made a sticky exit from Willy Wonka's Chocolate Factory!

Talking to Augustus at lunch time, he said, "well it all started in the Chocolate Room (my favourite room, obviously!) I was scooping chocolate from the Chocolate River when disaster struck! I fell into the river with great force and rather rude Mr Wonka had me sucked up by a pipe! I was absolutely terrified as I went shooting up into the Fudge Room! Luckily the Oompa – Loompa's were on hand to fish me out with an enormous fishing net!

Talking about his rescue he said "It actually worked out quite well because my whole body was covered in chocolate, which I could eat!"

"I invented chocolate Fingers!" He said chuckling!

Asking what he'd learnt from the shock exit he commented that from now on he's not going to be so greedy! Gloop would like to become "Mr. Healthy!" in his words "No one will recognize me!"

Augustus wedged in the pipe!
